

Licensing (Scotland) Act 2005

Complaints Process

The Licensing (Scotland) Act 2005 establishes a national policy framework aimed at tackling all aspects of licensing policy in Scotland. It is governed by five basic “principles”, known as the “licensing objectives”. These are:

Preventing crime and disorder
Securing public safety
Preventing public nuisance
Protecting and improving public health
Protecting children and young persons from harm

(LSA 2005 Sec.4)

The 2005 act has also introduced the role of the Licensing Standards Officer (LSO). Along with providing general information, advice and awareness of this act, the LSO is responsible for;

- Providing mediation services for the purpose of avoiding or resolving disputes or disagreements between-*
- i) the holders of premises licences or occasional licences*
 - ii) any other persons concerning any matter relating to compliance as referred to in the act.*

It should also be noted that section 22 (4) states, “A licensing Board may reject a notice of objection or representation received by the Board under subsection (1), if the Board considers the objection or representation is frivolous or vexatious.”.

In most cases it is hoped that matters can be satisfactorily resolved and mediation achieved, however, should this prove not to be the case the LSO can issue a Notice to a licensee holder requiring particular action to be taken. In the event that this is not successful an LSO can make an application to the Licensing Board for a review of the premises licence.

Should any person wish to make a complaint regarding any licensed premises or the running of such premises they should contact the LSO for Moray. This can be done by contacting:-
